

Mrs. White's Fourth Grade Newsletter

Week 19, December 9-13, 2024

Learning Objectives:

Reading: We will continue our next novel study of "My Side of the Mountain".

Writing: Students will begin drafting their informational report on the famous/influential person that they choose to research.

Math: We will finish Module 7, which is about dividing by one-digit numbers. We will review and take our end of unit assessment on Tuesday 12/10.

Social Studies: We will continue learning about the different regions of the United States and the Native American groups from each region while also completing an interactive flipbook project.

Science: We will be working on a special project using measurement, plotting, and graphing!
